COLLECTS DATA ON WATER SCHEDULES

Special Council Committee Takes up Proposition of Securing Rate Adjustment.

CONTRACT EXPIRES JANUARY 1

Members Feel That Satisfactory Agreement is Preferable to Continued Litigation.

Believing that a fair and equitable adjustment of the water rates by agreement with the Seymour Water Company is preferable and far more satisfactory than continued litigation which is expensive for both sides, the special committee of the city council is collecting data relative to rates in other Indiana cities of this class preparatory to a conference with representatives of the company. The committee was appointed several weeks ago to take up the matter with the company and secure, if possible, a satisfactory and equitable adjustment. The members of the council committee are John A. Goodale, J. A. Hoadley, Perry Collins, Mayor C. W. Burkart and John M. Lewis, city attorney.

The matter is taken up at this time as the ten-year period for rate changes provided for in the franchise will expire January 1 and the council desires to settle the issue, if possible, before that date so that the new rates may become effective the first of the year. The franchise held by the company also expires January 1, but is automatically renewed for another period of thirty years as the council did not deem it advisable to take over the property and operate it as a municipally owned utility.

While it is stated that an informal conference has been held by the committee and representatives of the company, it was called for a general discussion of the question and with the view of reducing the contested points to debatable grounds. The committee takes the stand, it is stated, that the rate schedule must not be in excess of the average charges in cities of this class where water plants are operated under conditions similar to those there. The committee is collecting information relative to rates elsewhere and these will be used as the basis for the negotiations. In many places the rates now in effect were fixed by the Indiana public service commission and the committee realizes that rates which are lower than those approved by the commission are out of the question. If an agreement can be effected, it is pointed out, the patrons of the company will get the benefit of the new rates and the city will be saved the expense of costly court action. The fight between the city and the company has been in progress at different intervals for the last twenty years and figures compiled at various times place the total cost at from $20,000 to $25,000. The members of the committee realize that the public has to bear this expense, meanwhile paying the same rates that were in force when the litigation started.

The chamber of commerce at a recent meeting expressed approval of the plan to effect a compromise before the first of the year, if the interests of the patrons could be safeguarded. The committee recently inspected each of the 161 fire hydrants in the city and has discussed probably water main extensions in the territory recently annexed with the view of ascertaining how many additional hydrants will be required to give the residents adequate fire protection. The preliminary work in connection with the negotiations is well under way and it is expected that concrete rate schedules will be taken up in the near future. Meanwhile the city committee is securing all the information available so that the rates proposed here will be practically the same as those in other cities of this size which have been approved by the state commission following hearings and property surveys.

REQUEST IS FILED FOR LARGER LEVY

Brownstown School Officials Do Not Believe New Tax Rate Will Net Sufficient Funds.

ALREADY FACING DEFICIT

Big Reduction Made in Application for 60 Cent Tuition and 55 Cent Special Rate.

The Brownstown school authorities are much concerned over the new tax rate which has been announced by the state board of tax commissioners. They express the confident belief that the levy granted by the state board will be insufficient to meet the expenses of the year and take care of a deficit which has been incurred. Victor Sage, treasurer of the Brownstown school board, went to Indianapolis Tuesday and explained the situation to Philip Zoercher, a member of the commission who has charge of this district. Mr. Sage was not given an answer that carried much satisfaction, it is stated.

The Brownstown school board filed an application for a sixty cent tuition and a fifty-five cent special school rate. The board reduced this to twenty-five cents for the tuition fund and thirty-five cents for the special fund. The tuition fund this year was forty-five cents while the special rate was fifty cents.

It is explained that after the levy for 1918 was made by the school board at Brownstown, it was found necessary to employ an additional teacher and that this expense was taken care of from a surplus fund.

The train was composed of nine coaches and the passengers included forty newspaper representatives who are touring the United States with the King and Queen. The special was accompanied over the Indiana division by A. A. Iams, superintendent, J. B. Purkhiser, trainmaster and S. A. Rogers, road foreman of engineers.

Thousands of dollars are spent annually by Hoosier tourists who go far away to get their scenic thrills. They do not realize that they have such beauties within a few hours of their own homes and within their own state. Hereafter it should be the business of communities having such scenic wonders to make the facts known. WILSON INFORMED AS TO CONFERENCE PROCEEDINGS

President Will Attempt to Prevent Dissolution of Important Session.

Washington, Oct. 22—President Wilson today sent information on the state of affairs in the national industrial conference, it was learned at the White House. Mrs. Wilson telephoned Secretary Tumulty and obtained a full report from him. The president, it was stated, will keep in close touch with all proceedings with the object of preventing dissolution of the conference by any means within his power.

Should the session end now conditions will be worse than if the conference had never been summoned, in the opinion of administration leaders. Radicalism will have been strengthened, it is held, if capital and organized conservative labor are unable to find a middle ground on which they can work together.

PREPARES TO MOVE TELEPHONE POLES

Interstate Public Service Company Has Force of Men at Work Attaching Wires to Buildings.

WILL TAKE SEVERAL DAYS

Men at Work Moving Western Union Telegraph Company's Cable From Second Street.

The work of clearing the section of Second and Chestnut streets where the new fighting system is to be installed was started today. A force of men of the Interstate Public Service Company started work this morning to move the trolley wires from the poles and suspend them from the buildings preparatory to moving the poles from the streets.

The work was started on Chestnut street between St. Louis avenue and Tipton street and that square was completed today and work was started in another square. The plan is to change all of the suspension wires before the work of moving the poles from the streets is started. It will take several days to complete the work. The change will be made without interfering in anyway with the regular interurban car schedules.

The Western Union Telegraph Company was the first company affected by the ordinance passed by the council requiring all wires and poles removed from the two streets in the downtown section, to have men on the ground to make its part of the improvement. A force of men started work Monday laying a new cable and moving the wires from Second street to run along the alley between Second and Third streets. The men expect to complete the work today.

The Postal Telegraph Company will move its cable but as yet it has not sent linemen here to make the change. It is understood it is waiting on new materials that will be installed when the change is made. It is expected that the Company will have men here to complete the work by the time that the changes are made by the Interstate company.

As soon as the streets are cleared the W. C. Bevens Electric Company which has the contract for installing the new lighting system is ready to begin its work. W. L. Clark, manager of the company has announced. It is estimated that it will take about forty-five days of good weather to install the "Great White Way."

WILSON APPEALS TO CONFERENCE

President Asks That It Stay "On The Job" Until its Work is Accomplished.

LABOR GROUP ABOUT TO QUIT

At Suggestion of Gompers Action is Reconsidered and Delegates Discuss Request.

By United Press

Washington, October, 22—President Wilson today served on the national industrial peace conference a demand that it stay on the job until it finds a way of carrying on industry other than "in the spirit and with the very method of war," otherwise national disaster is invited, he warned.

Written in the president's sick room on the White House the letter addressed to the "ladies and gentlemen of the industrial peace," was read by Secretary Lane immediately after the conference assembled and it was indicated that the labor group had decided to withdraw because of the defeat yesterday at the proposal to recognize collective bargaining.

"Must suspicion and hatred and force rule us in civil life?" Wilson demanded.

"Are our industrial leaders and our industrial workers to live together without faith in each other, constantly struggling for advantages over each other, doing naught but what is compelled?"

For the conference to break up without finding a ground for agreement would be to confess, the president declared, that domestic warfare could not be ended "at a time when the nations of the world are endeavoring to find a way of avoiding international war."

When Lane finished reading President Gompers asked permission for the labor group to withdraw and go into executive session. Gompers' action followed a resolution introduced by John Spargo, asking the conference to vote to assure the president it would not adjourn until it had accomplished its task. The situation was tense as the delegates left the hall for a recess.

Secretary Lane called the public and employers' group into session and an adjournment was taken until 2:30 p. m.

FROM A CAFE GIRL, TO A SLAVEY, TO A LADY

"The Probation Wife," Norma Talmadge's latest Select Picture, in which she is presented by Joseph M. Schenck, is the story of Jo Mowbray, the cafe girl who became a member of society's "400." No picture ever afforded Miss Talmadge such a wonderful opportunity to portray the remarkable versatility for which she has become famous as "The Probation Wife."

Miss Talmadge gives an excellent interpretation of the cafe girl who knows by instinct that the life she is leading is not the sort of a life she would choose if she had her choice. The cafe is raided and Jo is sentenced to three years in the reformatory with the rest of the cabaret girls.

She marries a handsome society man who furnishes her with all the luxuries of life. Another Jo! As a rich society matron, in the gorgeous creations which Miss Talmadge knows so well how to wear, she is beautiful and charming. From a cafe girl, to a slavey, to a lady—Miss Talmadge certainly has an opportunity to display her versatility, and she does it—well!

"The Probation Wife" can be seen on Tonight at the Majestic Theatre.

SAY "STRIKE PRICES" ARE CHARGED FOR COAL

Investigation Conducted in Soft Coal States, Shows Many Dealers Are Charging More.

By United Press

Chicago, Oct. 22.—Coal consumers are paying now for a strike which they haven't begun to "enjoy" as yet, according to leaders among the coal miners.

Investigation in central states—the soft coal states—showed the prices have advanced in some cities since the miners' strike call was issued. In others there had been no change.

A statement by United Mine Workers in Indianapolis said the consumer is forced in some cases to pay $1 more per ton now than a week ago and that the advance is without justification. Miners themselves were hit by the advance, officials of the union said.

In Chicago some dealers advanced prices slightly—four to eight cents per ton. Some of the larger dealers said there was no excuse for an increase now. Chicago has a thirty day supply of soft coal they said, and individual coal bins throughout the city are unusually well filled. A coal shortage last year was a great educator toward early buying this season, they said.

At Vincennes, Ind., prices advanced $1 per ton, it was stated today. Other Indiana cities faced a fifty cent increase. In Milwaukee an "automatic" raise July 1 was the only one hitting the consumer. The Twin Cities reported slight advances.

Iowa operators, dealers said today, boosted prices fifty cents to them, making it necessary to demand twenty five cents more from the consumer. The average retail price of soft coal in Des Moines now is $7 per ton.

An Enemy of Womanhood

The complexion, digestion and almost the complete personality of woman are dependent upon health. Woman's ills are her great enemy, as they cause bad complexion, dark circles under the eyes, headache, backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, dragging-down pains and the blues, and often totally unfit her for a companion. The great American remedy for such conditions is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which has been restoring three generations of ailing women to health, and may be relied upon with perfect confidence.

This year increased teachers' salaries were faced under the recent Indiana law and these resulted in unexpected expenses in connection with the operation of the school system. The board had hoped to secure sufficient funds this year to wipe out an indebtedness of $1,200 which had been incurred, but finds that it will be unable to do so under the new levy.

The state board of education ordered the Brownstown school board to redecorate the interior of its school building and the levy was made with the expectation of completing this work. It is stated that under the announced levy no money will be available for this work. The redecoration of the walls can be postponed, it is stated, but it is the tuition fund that is giving the school trustees concern.

But the Brownstown school authorities are not the only officials in Jackson county who are worrying about funds in 1920. Some of the trustees, it is said, do not believe that their levies will be adequate to meet the expenses of the year and are already trying to figure out ways and means to keep the schools in progress the full term without borrowing mon-

The Changing World

NAPOLEON is quoted as having said, "Right is on the side of the heaviest artillery."

In other words that might makes right.

This cynical remark was characteristic of the age in which he lived, and expressed the thought which dominated the world for many years after his death.

But a change has come over the world which has turned the whole thought of mankind into more wholesome, constructive channels. Where formerly he who had the power exploited his fellows, today the dominant idea is service and helpfulness.

In business particularly, is this idea apparent.

Today only those business institutions which render to the public a definite, specific service can hope to survive the changed ideals of the world.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is bending every effort to conduct its affairs in such manner as to conform to these modern ideals.

It is the ambition of the Company to broaden the scope and intensify the service it renders the public so as to make every man who buys even a gallon of gasoline feel that he is receiving the greatest possible value for the money he spends.

It is the Company's steadfast purpose to make every product it manufactures of the highest quality possible, thereby keeping its activities in step with the changing world.

ey. The state tax board has stated that it will see that no school is required to close for want of funds before the regular term is completed.

Unless the rate is increased in some units, it is stated, the school authorities will be required to borrow money to meet the fixed expenses and as such loans will have to be paid back in 1921 or later a higher rate eventually is certain.

The county officials are also giving attention in a very serious way to the levy of fourteen cents which was made for gravel road maintenance and repairs. The levy for this purpose this year was twenty-five cents and the county board of commissioners made application for a thirty-cent levy in 1920. As soon as the division of the levy for the county was received, Albert Luedtke, county auditor, went to Indianapolis to discuss the situation with the tax board. He will return late today or tomorrow.

It is pointed out that heretofore the county has received about $17,000 annually from the automobile license fund, but beginning in 1920 this money will go to the state highway commission instead of the county. The prices of all materials and labor are higher and the commissioners declare that with the smaller levy less repair work can be done in 1920 than in the past.

The state tax board fixed the county sinking fund levy at two cents although a rate of ten cents was asked by the council. The ten cent rate was requested so that the war loan indebtedness of $30,000 could be entirely lifted next year. At the auditor's office it is stated that the two cent sinking fund levy will only be sufficient to pay the court house bonds which mature and take care of the interest in that debt. None of the war debt can be paid next year and unless the state board increases the sinking fund levy, the county officials will ask for permission to refund the debt which is now carried as a temporary loan.

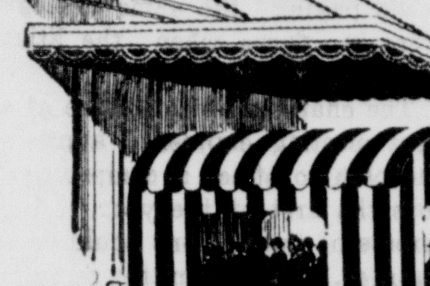

The city of Seymour fared well in the rate making by the state board. The council reduced its levies to just one-half of the amounts this year. The state board permitted all of them to stand as filed with the exception of the general fund which was re-

All Out.

One evening I was accompanying two young women home. We got on a car in which there were but two vacant seats. They sat down together and I excused myself, thinking I would take a smoke on the front platform. I got to talking to some fellows and before I realized it we were at the end of the car line. I rushed in the car, but needless to say, did not find the two girls, as we had passed their corner about a mile back.—Exchange.

Distributes Hospital Supplies.

TWO hundred and forty packing cases containing over 2,000,000 separate articles—pneumonia jackets, absorbent pads, bandages, nightgowns, pajamas and baby clothes—have been sent out during the past week from the warehouse of the Lake Division Red Cross Headquarters, Cleveland, to hospitals in Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky.

The American Red Cross is co-operating with the American Hospital Association to distribute 25,000,000 yards of gauze, intended for military hospitals, to civil hospitals in the United States that are in need of supplies.

At the division warehouse there are 3,000 boxes of garments and supplies sent in from Red Cross Chapters. These will be distributed to hospitals as orders are received from the hospital association. Women who met during the war to make surgical dressings meet now to pack these cases.

In the distribution the past week twenty-five hospitals in Ohio received supplies, five in Indiana and two in Kentucky.

A REAL ROOSEVELT MEMORIAL

No monument or memorial to Theodore Roosevelt could be quite so effective as a straight out and out Americanization program, launched in his name. It is probably with this fact in mind that the Indiana Roosevelt Memorial Association arranged for an Americanization week from October 19 to 27, incident to the collection of $400,000 which will be applied by Hoosiers to perpetuating the memory and ideals of this great American.

"Americanism is the only 'ism' that will serve to quiet the present special and industrial unrest in this country" the Indiana committee announces, and who is there to enter a denial? In fact many other so-called panaceas have been applied, only to aggravate matters and contribute nothing worth while.

It is to be hoped, indeed that the Americanization week program will do more than serve as an opportunity for the collection of funds for the Roosevelt Memorial. We have talked much, since the outbreak of the war, of our duty to immigrants and aliens. Now is the time to begin doing something more than just talk. Roosevelt has always been more or less an idol in the eyes of foreigners, and with the magic appeal of his name, it ought not to be a difficult matter to bring home to these deluded and misguided victims of Bolsheviks and anarchists a realization of their patriotic duty. Their transformation then, from agitators and syndicalists ought not to be difficult.

Our Milk Offer

To Homes with Children in Them

We prefer to sell Van Camp's Milk to homes with children in them. To such homes it is all-important, and we can never supply it to all.

We offer them this:

A milk from high-bred cows, fed in rich dairying districts, kept in sanitary dairies and regularly inspected.

A pasteurized milk, utterly germ-free. It has none of the dangers of raw milk.

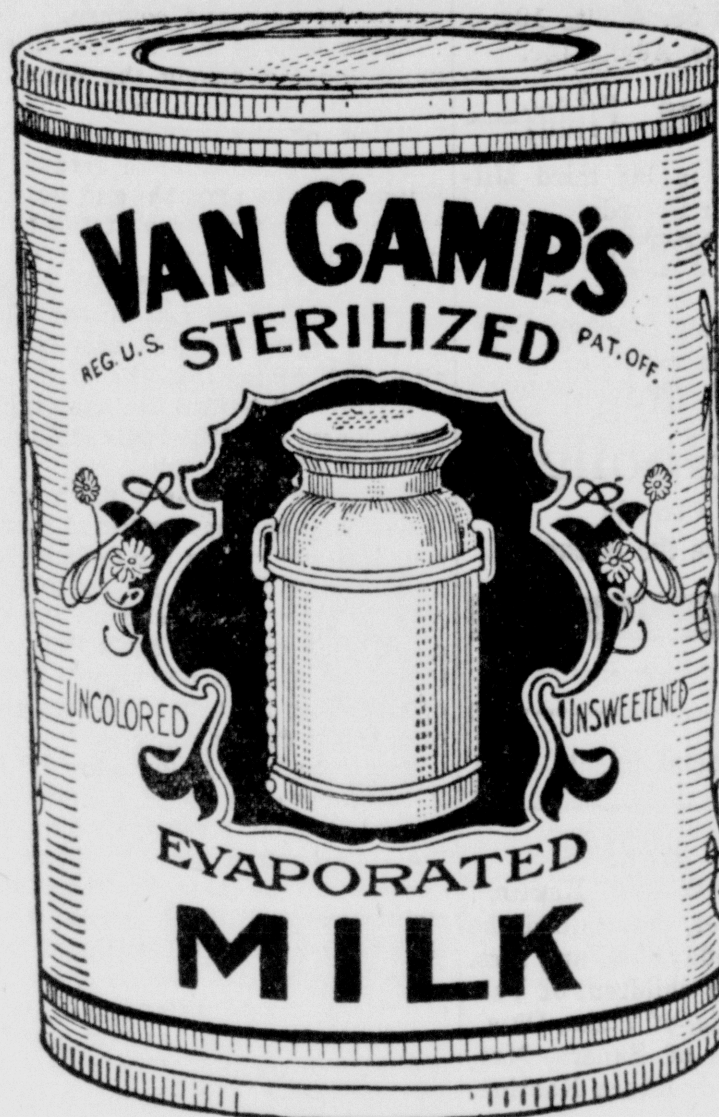

An extra-rich milk, with twice the butter fat of bottled milk. Reduce it to the richness that you like.

No Extra Cost

This ideal milk costs you no more than other evaporated milk.

It costs you less than milkman's milk—much less, for it saves all waste. You can keep small cans and large cans ever on the shelf. Open what you need.

The Finest Milk Produced In America

"The Cow in the Pantry"

Milk from High-Bred Cows

Double-Rich

Utterly Germless

The Van Camp experts have spent 20 years to bring you a milk like this. They have established condenseries in seven great dairying districts.

There the fresh milk is put into a vacuum. Under a low heat we remove half the water. Then we sterilize the milk.

The milk is otherwise unaltered.

Use it as it comes for your coffee. Dilute it somewhat for cereals. Add an equal part of water for drinking. Dilute it still further for cooking.

The New-Day Milk

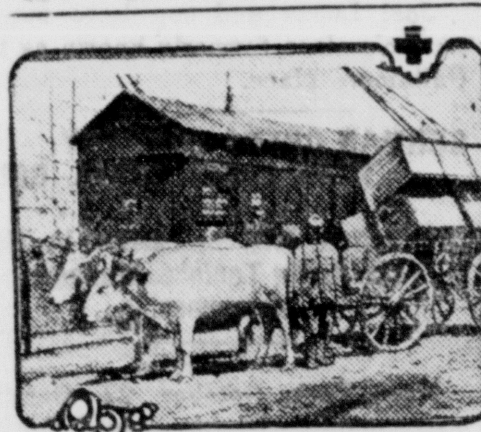

This is the new-day milk. It is bound to displace germ-laden milk in any careful home. Or milk from common cows.

It has come to save waste. It will encourage milk using because it is clean and safe, but it saves on the left-over milk.

Compare it with bottled milk. Compare it with other evaporated. You owe that to yourself and yours.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH THE AMERICAN RED CROSS.

Soon after the entrance of the United States in the war the successes of the Central Powers in Roumania had reduced that country to a most tragic condition and in the summer of 1917, the American Red Cross despatched its first Roumanian relief contingent. Two hospitals were at once taken over and operated by the Red Cross, a canteen for the starving refugees established and food and clothing distributed over a large area. Transportation was one of the toughest problems with which the Red Cross workers in Roumania had to deal. Here is seen an ox-cart used by the Red Cross to "carry its relief supplies up into the mountains.

Real Efficiency.

Our health is a vital part of our business. If the invoice shows that we are overstraining nerves and organs it is high time to adopt better business methods or else go into bankruptcy.

Bailed Up.

"Betty has an India rubber imagination." "India rubber isn't the term—there are bounds to India rubber."

COUNTY EXCELS IN SCENIC GRANDEUR

of Jackson county. No other county in the state excels this in picturesque landscape. While we have no chain of lakes to flaunt at tourists, we have with us the gracefully flowing White river and the lazy old Muscatatuck, both streams being in high favor with the disciples of Isaac Walton. Then there is White Creek, furious at times, but withal a well-behaved stream; and Salt creek, fearlessly wending its way through the alpine regions of Salt creek township, sweeping the stony base of a hill, courtesying to the overbending sycamores and the birch that line its banks in many places, and finally flowing gently through the low lands to its ultimate union with White river.

But it is of the eternal hills of the central and western parts of the county that we love most to sing. An auto trip among these hills on a sunny autumn day is an unforgettable ride to any one whose soul is attuned to the symphonies of the woodland, and whose eyes are trained to autumn's gorgeous palette.

Starting from Seymour the hill country is reached near Brownstown from whence a range of "knobs" stretches southward to a break near Millport. An excellent highway, skirts this range, and leads to Medora and Sparksville, where hill-climbing begins in earnest. Pea Ridge is easily accessible from either town, and should by no means be left out of the itinerary. This is the highest elevation in the county, and affords a long-range view to the southeast. Continuing northward the slate cliffs of Guthrie creek are crossed on a perfectly safe iron bridge. A pause here is advisable for camera business. Farther along Clear Spring is reached on the summit of Salt Creek range.

A short distance east of this old village of one time academic fame, the tourist comes to a veritable "Inspiration Point," from which elevation a magnificent view of White river valley is afforded. All attempts to describe the vast panorama which here opens to view will fail for lack of words; even efforts to kodak the miles of hills that melt away in the distant haze are unsatisfactory, for the camera cannot faithfully reproduce all that the discerning eye beholds. It must be seen by the eye alone. Hours may be pleasantly passed in gazing at this wonderful scene and the tourist will reluctantly turn away to pursue his journey to Houston hill, the next point of interest. From this noted hill one gets a close-up view of a Hoosier "Peaceful Valley," in the midst of which rests the tiny village of Houston, among the nestling trees. Not far away to the north is famed Brown county, some of the peaks of which are plainly visible from this point. But the Houston hills, decked in autumn's richest coloring, their summits rearing into the hazy sky like walls of flaming fire; the winding roads of ochre, appearing as mere threads in the distance; the blissful silence of the glowing woodland broken only by the sigh of falling leaves, are equal to anything Brown county may have to offer.

The descent into the valley may now begin by a circuitous route over good roads, bearing north by east by way of Waymansville, and then homeward through the fertile valley of White river where dwell contentedly many of the prosperous farmers, fruit growers and live-stock raisers of Jackson county. The route here described contains about seventy-five miles, and every mile reveals the truth that Jackson county may boast not only of well-tended farms and comfortable homes of a prosperous people, but that we need not travel far from home to get a glimpse of real scenery.

REPORTS ON WARFARE IN RUSSIA CONFLICTING

Berlin Paper Reports That Ydenitch Has Reached Petrograd From South.

By United Press
London, Oct. 22—Conflicting reports were received here today regarding progress of the anti-Bolshevik attack against Petrograd. A Berlin dispatch quoted a Russian paper as saying an official communication stated General Ydenitch had reached the city proper from the south and that fighting was going on in the outskirts.

Other dispatches reported that the Bolsheviks are not only successfully resisting the attack on Petrograd but are winning victories on other fronts. On the south the Bolsheviks are reported to have captured a city. On Kolchak's front, the Bolsheviks were said to have advanced fourteen miles, taking one thousand prisoners.

J. A. Keegler, cashier at the First National Bank, returned Tuesday afternoon from a two weeks' vacation visit in Louisville and other points in Kentucky. While in Louisville, he was the guest of his sister, Mrs. T. W. Stierle and family.

SAGAMORE HILL TO BECOME SHRINE OF HONESTY AND TRUTH

QUALITIES EXEMPLIFIED IN THE PERSON OF ROOSEVELT ADD WEIGHT TO MEMORIAL.

What does it mean to the nation, this organization which proposes to erect memorials for Roosevelt?

It means the same thing that was meant when those who followed Washington, labored to make the idea of love of liberty universal.

It means the same thing that was meant when those who followed Lincoln did all in their power to further national unity.

It means that those who understood and believed the Roosevelt doctrine of progress are now beginning a campaign for the propagation of national purity, honesty and courage.

There will be no miracle of swift understanding among the people, no sudden acceptance of ideas. The upbuilding of the nation along these lines must come through gradual education. There may be, and no doubt will be, sporadic cases of the old revival spirit that will sweep certain sections. Under the fervor of such excitement many will swear allegiance to truth, honesty, unselfish loyalty and higher Americanism, who will later fall before the onslaught of expediency, timidity and cupidity, but many will abide.

This war has taught much of national duty and has awakened many a soul that was still in the fog and darkness of an old life it sought to leave. Now is the time to take up the task of showing to these souls that what they have seen is not merely a flash of vanishing light, but the first gleam of a better day in America.

From the foundation already laid, it is proposed to build a more solid and permanent structure of national life. Through a steady, unswerving devotion to an idea, to bring about righteousness through education, until it will become the national habit.

No man whose soul is clean will ever deny the advantage of plain understandings and honesty in public as well as private life. The square deal will be urged and taught until dishonesty has been driven out of municipal, state and national life.

No real American will ever dispute the wholesomeness of the idea that those permanently in America must be Americanized. So will the ideals and ideas of our nation at its best be taught by the society and induced by having the life and words of one who was long the apostle of true Americanism constantly presented. The monument and the park will be reminders, to every thinking person who views them, of the faith of Roosevelt in his nation and his love for her.

As Mt. Vernon has been the shrine of liberty, so will Sagamore Hill become the shrine of public honesty and truth.

It is good to remember the good. It is helpful to recall the men who stood for the best in their day. David stands out like a giant among the puny of his day. St. Paul's record shines like the glory of the morning sun. Luther, Knox, Washington, Lincoln, Roosevelt, stand as beacon lights, warning against the shoals and rocks, beckoning to the safe harbors.

This organization means the strengthening of the nation through the promulgation of truth and righteousness. Courage, honesty, truth, purity of life, as exemplified in the person of Theodore Roosevelt, will aid in the immortalization of America. Rome died of immortality. The United States of America has been shown life everlasting, through a strict code of morals. The Roosevelt Memorial Association will do its part towards the national acceptance of that code.

ROOSEVELT'S IDEALS
EVER AN INSPIRATION

(By Leonard Wood, Major-General, United States Army)

Theodore Roosevelt was a leader in ideals and in action. He stood for the square deal, one flag, one language and one loyalty—loyalty to the American people—for industrial justice, for public and private morality, for a strong and vigorous America, charitable and helpful, ever ready to do her duty to civilization and humanity, but an America acting always under the dictates of her own conscience, rather than under the direction of others.

He stood for universal service in war as well as in peace. Service for each one wherever he could best serve. His memory will live among us always, and his life and ideals will serve as an inspiration for all that is best in citizenship.

Early in the participation of the United States in the world war, the American Red Cross perceived the value of mobilizing the school children of the country and the Junior Red Cross was organized. Children everywhere in the United States responded to the call to service sounded by President Wilson as head of the American Red Cross. I had given George my letters to mail on Wednesday morning, but as Thursday wore away and Billy didn't come I saw what I was in for—I was to be starved into leaving the flat. I was already weak for want of food; I suppose my belief in imminent starvation had something to do with it, but as a matter of fact I had had nothing that could be called a square meal since Monday night at the restaurant, and I hadn't eaten much then—I was too excited over my encounter with monsieur. Oh, how I wished I'd eaten that egg Mrs. Jimmson-boiled for me—it might have saved my life! Yes, I was weak with hunger, and by Sunday night there would not be a mouthful in the house to eat. It was now Thursday evening.

That night monsieur picked the new Yale lock on the front door! How long he'd been working at it before I woke up I can't say, and I might never have known it at all if he hadn't accidentally dropped his bunch of keys on the tiled floor. Their tinkling awoke me. I knew on the instant what it was and lay perfectly still while I felt him listening for a sound from me to show that I was awake. I should say I lay there fifteen minutes before he went on with his job.

Softly I crept out of bed. I tiptoed through the hall and placed myself back of the door where he could not see me should he get it open. We stood thus possibly five minutes, his work lighted by the hall gas jet. I in total darkness, while keys slid into the lock, slid out and clicked against the bunch he had in his hand. It was a large bunch, judging from the sound. The sixth key did it. The Yale lock turned once—twice. He withdrew the key and I heard him taking it off the ring and dropping the bunch into his pocket. He put the key once more in the lock and tried again to make sure. It was not till then that he unlocked the lower lock—the one he kept me prisoner with. He'd never once given me the chance to pop out on him till he was ready to pop in on me!

And now he was ready. The key turned—the door handle turned. A strip of light showed over his head and slowly widened. The chain-bolt slid and slid, almost noiselessly, along its socket. Then it stopped.

I think he hadn't noticed it at first—he had turned the gas low and as he stood he cut off the light. When the door suddenly stopped he moved aside to see what was hampering him. I saw the glitter of the brass chain. He saw it too. Then darkness again, and I felt rather than saw his fingers come through the crack and feel the chain. Next came the whole hand and worked at the chain—but the farther he pushed it back the tighter closed the door. It was meant to be that way, but he didn't yet know it! He bared his arm and thrust it through the crack and felt along the slot to the hole in the end. This was my chance to give him one with the hairbrush—but I didn't. Truth to tell I was too paralyzed with excitement I had my chance and let it go. I did nothing—said nothing—scarcely breathed the whole time he was there. And to this day I don't know if I could have pattered the situation by doing anything but what I did—nothing.

He wasted very little time on the chain. It took him not more than two minutes to learn that he couldn't get the bolt out at the end of the slot without first shutting the door—which meant it couldn't be got out except from the inside. He withdrew his hand. There was a dead pause in which he seemed to be considering what to do next. Then he closed the door and locked me in again. I did not hear him leave—only, when the door closed on him all was silent. He probably crept up and down the stairs in gum shoes. And with my teeth chattering I asked myself my now favorite question, "What next?" I was to have it answered in a way I didn't expect.

NEW SCHOOL FOR CHINA.

Y. W. C. A. Secures New Site for Girls Physical Training School.

A new home has been found for the Physical Training School which the Young Women's Christian Association has opened for native girls in Shanghai, China.

The school, while in the country, is not far distant from the National Headquarters of the Y. W. C. A. in Shanghai nor far from the local Y. W. C. A. The grounds cover eighteen "mow," which means approximately six acres, and are divided by a private road. A foreign residence already on the grounds will be used by the American teachers, while native buildings on the other side will furnish living quarters and classrooms for the 35 students.

The grounds boast a garden, tennis courts and an athletic field.

AMERICA'S LOSS, SAYS GOMPERS

(By Samuel Gompers, President American Federation Labor)

Colonel Roosevelt's life was full to the brim. His energy, courage, ability to do were marvelous. I knew him for more than a third of a century. During that period we were often enlisted in the same cause. This gave me a true knowledge of his wonderful character, his leadership, his sincerity of purpose and his anxiety to serve the people. His motives were of the highest. America, the world, has lost a great man.

THE PACKERS AND REFRIGERATOR CARS

Whether refrigerator cars should be owned by the railroads or by the packers—a point to be determined by legislation now pending in Washington—may seem to be a question rather remote from the interests of the average person. But, inasmuch as these "ice boxes on wheels," as one of the packers terms them, are the conveyances which bring our beefsteak to town, we may assume that we have a certain concern about them. If they have anything to do with the price of the beefsteak our concern is a deep one.

It is maintained by some that these cars give the packers who now own them an unfair advantage over competitors. This is stoutly denied by the packers, who offer as proof the fact that they pay the same freight rates as any shipper; and they assert that the only advantage they enjoy is in being able to get enough cars for their needs by furnishing them themselves instead of depending upon the railroads to do so. In this they are backed up by a report of the Interstate Commerce Commission, made after an investigation of all privately owned cars, to the effect that there were no unfair practices and that a radical change would adversely affect both shippers and the public.

While not opposing, in principle, railroad ownership of refrigerator cars, the packers maintain that there are not enough of these cars to go around and that the legislation in question makes no provision for insuring that the railroads shall furnish them in sufficient number. On the other hand, to pool their cars and take chances of getting what happened to be available, would seriously handicap the distribution of their perishable meat products. The stream of shipments from the packing plants would be blocked, which in turn would block the buying of live stock, and the industry, which is founded on a basis of rapid distribution, would be badly muddled.

In these contentions pro and con, there are three parties whose interests are at stake—the packers, their competitors and the public. Only one of these parties could gain a possible advantage if the packers' cars were taken away from them, viz, the packers' competitors. The cars are now admittedly handled on an economic and efficient basis, and no change is justified unless unfairness is definitely and absolutely proved—which would be in absolute contradiction to the report that the Interstate Commerce Commission has already rendered on the subject. The public would pay the bill for inefficiency in the packing industry, and it has no desire to pay the bill in order to help a few of the packers' competitors.

MINERS OWE A BIG DEBT TO ROOSEVELT

BY THE LATE JOHN MITCHELL, FORMER PRESIDENT UNITED MINE WORKERS.

The late John Mitchell, former President of the United Mine Workers, survived his friend, Theodore Roosevelt, by eight months only. Mitchell never tired of telling the story of the famous anthracite coal strike and of Roosevelt's great work in ending it. The story follows:

"I, as president of the miners' union, proposed that all questions of dispute be referred to a tribunal to be appointed by the President of the United States; that the miners would immediately resume work provided the railroad executives would agree to the appointment of such a tribunal and agree to be bound by its findings. J. Pierpont Morgan and representatives of the banking institutions agreed to the appointment of a commission with full power to investigate conditions existing in the anthracite coal mines, and to be bound by the award of such commission. President Roosevelt then sent for me and advised me of the proposal of the railway presidents as it had been conveyed to him by Mr. Morgan and his associates. Thereupon a convention of anthracite miners was held; by unanimous vote the delegates—more than 1,000 in number—agreed to resume work and to submit all questions of dispute to the commission which was to be appointed by President Roosevelt.

"It is a pleasure to record that from that time to the present the relations between mine owners and the miners of the anthracite coal field have been cordial, that many further improvements in the conditions of labor have been introduced, that all opposition to the miners' union have been withdrawn. For all these changes the anthracite workers owe an everlasting debt of gratitude to Colonel Roosevelt."

"THE FIGHTING AMERICAN"

(By Peyton C. March, General, Chief of Staff, United States Army)

The plan for erecting a permanent memorial to Colonel Roosevelt appeals in a peculiar manner to the officers of the U. S. Army. Colonel Roosevelt's virility, force and aggressive Americanism are qualities which are desired in every soldier and he typifies to us the fighting American.

Roy Sweet and children left this morning for future residence in Columbus.

ROOSEVELT MEMORIAL ASSOCIATION IN INDIANA

The Roosevelt Memorial Association will conduct a national campaign during the week of October 20-27 for a memorial fund for $5,000,000, to be devoted to the following purposes:

First: To build a suitable memorial at Washington.

Second: To establish a national shrine at Oyster Bay, Long Island, the home of the former President.

Third: To acquire, restore and maintain Theodore Roosevelt's birthplace in New York city.

Fourth: Through an endowed foundation to perpetuate Roosevelt's ideals of courageous Americanism.

Indiana's quota for the national fund is $200,000. The National Executive Committee has permitted all of the over-subscription in this state to be exclusively for a memorial to Theodore Roosevelt in Indiana. What this memorial shall be has not yet been determined, but it is proposed that the bulk of the Indiana fund be devoted to some form of memorial in the nature of Americanization or welfare work which will be statewide in character and benefit. This over-subscription should provide at least $200,000 for the Indiana Memorial.

In Memoriam.

Hunter—In loving remembrance of George R. Hunter, who died Oct. 26, 1918 at Highlands, New Jersey.

If I had seen you at the last and held your dying hands and heard the last sigh from your heart, I would not feel so bad, I did not see you die. I only know you went away and bid your last goodbye.

'Tis hard to break the tender cord when love has barred the heart:

'Tis hard so hard to speak the words, we must on this earth forever part.

For memory is the only friend that grief can call its own.

As I walk among the living scarce, ly knowing where to tread,

I may laugh with those around me, but my heart is with the dead.

Your loving sister,
Mrs. Anna B. Clark.
